A Young Commander

"Is that the chap we shipped under? Why, he hasn't grown a beard yet."

"Nevertheless he is the skipper of this craft, and a right smart one, too, as you'll find out if you cruise many months aboard of her."

"That may be, but I'd rather see a man on the quarter deck than a boy."

"What's the difference if the boy has a man's head on his shoulders? It isn't always those who have lived the longest in this world that know the most, as I have found out. Our skipper and I were shipmates on the voyage that he jumped from before the mast to the quarter deck."

"Don't see how he could do it," grumbled the one addressed as Tom.

"It was this way," began Bill Becket that same evening in the "dog watch" when he and his companion Tom, who was also a boat steerer, were leaning idly over the weather rail, gazing out on the vast expanse of waters over which their vessel was bounding before a fair wind.

"It's little over four years now since I joined the Race Horse down in one of the Kanaka islands. I had run away from another ship and had 'beach combed' it (nautical parlance for tramp) until I got a chance in the Race Horse. We were going north to cruise in the Okhotsk sea. The skipper was before the mast then. He was a chap that didn't have to see a thing done more than twice before he could do it himself.

"I handled the harpoons in the mate's boat, and little Blue Fin, as we called our cap'n that is now, pulled the bow oar in the same craft. One morning just a little after daylight the lookout in the crosstrees raised a school of sperm whales. We had a pretty stiff breeze the night before, and the sea was still running high. We lowered away, however, our three boats—mate's, second mate's and third's.

"'I'll take that fellow up to wind'ard!' called our officer as he pointed to a big whale that was playing around on the outside of the school as though he was placed there to protect the cows and calves that were huddled together in the middle from any danger.

"'Look out, Bill,' says the mate to me as he stood grasping the steering oar. 'Look out, man, and don't miss him. There's a good hundred barrels there.'

"'Aye, aye, sir,' said I. 'Lay me on close enough, and I'll drive both irons into him clear to the beckets.'

"There was no danger but what he'd do it, for the fellow didn't know what it was to be afraid of a whale. I wasn't going to take any chances, so I waited till the boat almost touched the big brute, then I let fly both harpoons, one after another, and sung out, 'Stern all!' When the boys were backing so as to give the whale room to play, I went aft to change places with the mate, and he walked forward to his station in the bow to kill the fish with a lance.

"Now, this whale was one of those kind of fellows that take his medicine easy at first, but fights like fury before he h'ists his red flag. He didn't 'sound,' but lay and wallowed for a minute or two, then began to swing round so as to get sight of us.

"'He's going to give us a tussle,' called the mate.

"'Aye, aye; he's a fighter,' says I.

"Then I caught sight of Blue Fin's face. All the other chaps were glancing over their shoulders and beginning to get a little shaky, but he sat on his thwart with his hand grasping the oar, just as quiet and unconcerned as if he were in a skiff on a mill pond and not within half a cable's length of a mad bull sperm that threatened to send him and his shipmates to Davy Jones' locker at any minute.

"'Stand by to jump!' called the mate. 'He's coming for us!'

"Now, you know there's no boat quick enough to get out of the way of a whale when he makes a rush, so the only thing to do is to leave her. The other men sprang to their feet, but the boy still sat there, and I began to think he was paralyzed with fright.

"'Stand up to jump, Blue Fin!' I called. 'And when you go leap straight for the beggar and not from him.'

"The lad smiled and nodded his head and, standing up, unshipped his oar from the thole pin, held it ready and faced about.

"Then the whale started.

"'Jump!' yelled the mate.

"The next instant we were all floundering around in the water, while the bull caught the boat in his mouth, crushed it to pieces and sounded.

"The third mate, who had just killed one small chap, was not far away, so he came and picked us up, all but the mate. We never saw him afterward. He must have been fouled in the lines and gone down.

"We got two out of the school, but all hands felt sad at the loss of the officer. I couldn't help telling our skipper how cool Blue Fin was through the whole thing, and when he shoved the officers ahead he rated his own boat steerer third mate and ordered Blue Fin to take charge of the irons in his craft.

"I tell you the boy was proud enough, but he had nerve and good luck, both of which are everything to a whaler. This was destined to be an unfortunate voyage for the After Guards. The whales were plenty in the Okhotsk sea, and there was hardly a day but what we were outing in or trying out blubber.

"One afternoon the cap'n lowered away for a 'right' whale. Our boat was close alongside, but the skipper sung out:

"'Don't you meddle with him; he's my fish!' So of course we hung back, only standing by to lend a hand in case we were needed.

"Blue Fin made a pretty dart. He hurled his first iron about six feet aft the bow hole, and the other he planted in the belly as the fellow rolled. It was a deathblow, but before the whale began to spout blood he brought his flukes around, caught the boat before the boys could back out of the way and stove her to pieces. We pulled in and picked up the crew. I grabbed the 'old man' just as he was going down, and when I hauled him up I saw that he was hurt badly and was unconscious. He was smashed up in a frightful manner and never recovered.

"Next morning at eight bells we launched the dead body of the cap'n from the starb'd gangway, while the fish that had killed him was moored with chains to the port side of the ship. Poor Blue Fin felt awful bad, and he kept mourning as the mate read the burial service, saying:

"'Oh, if I hadn't struck the whale that last blow! 'Twas the second iron that touched his "life," and our cap'n's too.'

"But, shipmate," went on the boat steerer, "it was to be, and it's the way of the world, I suppose. One man mounts to a position through the death of another, just as a new ship is built to take the place of a craft that has found a bed on the rocks."

"Yes, there's a great deal of truth in what you say, Bill. But how was it that your cap'n's loss rated Blue Fin skipper?"

"He wasn't skipper in every sense of the word, but 'twas this way: The officers that were left were the same as you and I—good sailors and good whalers—but they knew nothing of navigation. Blue Fin, of all our company, was the only one who could handle a quadrant or 'work up a sight.' As I said, the whales were plenty, and we didn't want to leave the grounds till the ice drove us out, for we were making money, so we finished our cruise, and when we reached Honolulu we were full to the hatches with oil and bone.

"There was some talk of shipping another man to take the vessel home, but the agent and the American consul said, 'If that young man knew enough to bring the craft safely out of the Okhotsk sea, he knows enough to find his way to New Bedford.' They just engaged another mate 'by the run,' who was a navigator, and gave the boy charge of the ship.

"We made a quick passage around the Horn, and the owners were so much pleased with Blue Fin that they gave him command of the Race Horse on the next voyage, and while away on that cruise they built him this one here, the Grampus, and that's how the lad became skipper so young. It goes to prove the truth of what I said a few moments ago, that 'it's not always gray hairs which cover the wisest head.' A boy is sometimes more fit to command than a man who has seen twice or thrice his number of years."

The Wedding Ring.

A long time ago the wedding ring was worn on the forefinger and was thickly studded with precious stones. People who have seen the old pictures of the Madonna in Rome will remember that in one or two of them there is a glistening ring on the forefinger of her right hand, but with Christianity came the wearing of the wedding ring on the third finger rather than the first.

The old story of there being a vein that runs from that finger to the heart is nonsense. Its use originated in this way: The priest first put it on the thumb, saying, "In the name of the Father;" on the forefinger, adding, "In the name of the Son;" on the second finger, repeating, "In the name of the Holy Ghost," and on the third finger, ending with "Amen." And there it stayed.

Spread of Peanut Culture.

The spread of the culture of the peanut is nothing short of phenomenal. A native probably of Surinam, in Central America, it was introduced in Brazil and Peru in the days of that mysterious civilization of which evidences remain in records and monuments. Then it traveled, perhaps long before Columbus set out on his haphazard journey, and reached China. By that enterprising people (enterprising in those bygone days) it was carried to India, Ceylon and the Malay archipelago. Thus Asian tropics were blessed with a truly American plant. Then, again, Portuguese adventurers, after the discovery of America by belated Europeans, carried the peanut in their slave ships to the African coast, and thus another continent was added to the conquests of the American. Later days have seen it invade Australasia, and its culture there is urged not only for the sake of food for man in the nuts, but also for cattle in the foliage.—Outing.

DISCOURAGED

The expression occurs so many times in letters from sick women to Dr. Pierce; "I was completely discouraged." And there is always good reason for the discouragement. Years of suffering. Doctor after doctor tried in vain. Medicines doing no lasting good. It is no wonder that the woman feels discouraged.

Thousands of these weak and sick women have found health and courage regained as the result of the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"In the year 1899 I was taken sick," writes Mrs. Edna Crowder, of Ripley, Lauderdale Co., Tenn. "My limbs ached, had severe pains in back and lower part of bowels, with difficulty in urination, and smarting and burning pain after. I tried many kinds of medicine and four of the best doctors in the country, until I gave up all hope of recovery. In January, 1901, I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and received from him a letter, telling me to try his medicines. I took eleven bottles, six of 'Favorite Prescription,' five of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of 'Pellets,' and used one box of 'Lotion Tablets' and one of 'Healing Suppositories,' and am now able to work at anything I want to. Thanks to you for your valuable medicine and kind advice."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SONOMA, OCTOBER 25, 1902.

H. H. GRANICE - - - - - - - - - - - - EDITOR

STATE CONTROLLER COLGAN has placed us under obligations for a tabulated statement of the property valuations, indebtedness and tax rate of all the counties in the State for 1902. From it we glean that of the fifty-seven counties in California only twelve have a tax rate lower than Sonoma, seven have the same rate ($1 60), while forty-eight are higher. This speaks well for our county, which during the past four years has inaugurated a road sprinkling system and expended thousands of dollars upon public highways and bridges.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

The Republican county nominees hold forth in Santa Rosa tonight.

Judges Dougherty and Burnett are reported to be making a strong fight for re election.

Victor Piezzi, Republican nominee for Assemblyman, will poll his full party strength in this township.

In casting your vote do not forget to put your stamp opposite the name of U. S. Webb, the Republican nominee for Attorney General.

The Democratic nominees will be in Glen Ellen on Tuesday evening, October 28th, and in Sonoma on Wennesday evening, October 29th.

Newton V. V. Smyth, Republican nominee for County Surveyor, is one of the most popular men on the Repubiican ticket and he is said to be a sure winner.

In voting for District Attorney don't forget to stamp an X opposite the name of C. H. Pond, the Republican nominee. He is one of the foremost lawyers in the county and is in every sense qualified for the position.

It goes without saying that E. P. Colgan, Republican nominee for State Controller, will be elected. It is not seriously thought by any one that Mr. Colgan is even menaced by defeat. His is the case of an official where competency, integrity, courage and character stand as assurance of retention in office.—Sacramento Bee.

The most popular Democratic nominees down this way are Fred. T. Duhring, Frank Dowd, Frank P. Grace, Chas. Pool, Minnie Coulter and F. A. Kruse. But as this Township is a Republican stronghold each will have to secure a whole lot of Republican votes in order to carry either Sonoma, San Luis or Agua Caliente precincts. But Sheriff Grace, Assessor Dowd and School Superintendent Miss Coulter did this very thing four years ago.

INCORPORATED.

Boyes' Hot Springs to be Managed by Joint Stock Company.

There has been filed in the County Clerk's office articles of incorporation of Boyes' Hot Springs, located about two miles west of Sonoma. The incorporators are H. E. Boyes, A. C. Boyes, August Waterman, E. B. Holden and Vincent Neale.

The capital stock of the new corporation is $150,000, divided into shares of the par value of $1 each.

The principal place of business of the corporation will be San Francisco. The amount of stock actually subscribed is $25. The incorporators will be the first Board of Directors and Capt. Boyes will be the resident manager.

An Ideal Trip to the East.

The journey across the continent i , at best a tedious one, and in selecting one's route from among the many offered, one should choose that which affords the best service, combined with the greatest variety of scenery.

Such a one is the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad System, known the world over as The Scenic Line of the World. Three daily express trains carry through standard and tourist sleepers and free reclining-chair cars from the Pacific Coast to all parts of the East. Schedules may be so arranged as to afford stop-overs if desired at Salt Lake City, Denver or other points of interest, and a daylight journey through the heart of the Rocky Mountains in view of the grandest scenery on the American continent. The Castle Gate, The Canon of the Grand, Eagle River Canon, Mount of the Holy Cross, Tennessee and Marshall Passes, The Royal Gorge and Pike's Peak are but a few of the world-famed sight places in this ever-changing panorama.

Those contemplating an eastern trip should let us quote the lowest fares and send the beautifully illustrated books, which we distribute free, giving full details of advantages offered by the Rio Grande System.

AFTER GRIP WHAT?

The Perilous Period Which Follows an Attack of this Mysterious Malady.

Grip is bad enough with its aching bones, inflamed eyes, painful back, and fever. But its after effects are perhaps even more to be dreaded than the misery attendent on an attack of the disease itself. The person who comes safely through an attack of grip, man, woman, or child, is left in a condition of peculiar debility and prostration from which it is difficult to rally. A slight cold or cough may find speedy termination in lung disease. Ordinary exposure results in pneumonia. The disease seems to deplete the vitality, undermine the strength, and affect the balance of the mind. It is one of the sad experiences of the grip, that the convalescent supposed to be rallying well, has been found in a condition of complete collapse.

As a result of the grip the lungs, and other organs of respiration seem peculiarly liable to be affected and consumption may easily be the after consequence of the malady. It needs no argument therefore to urge the building up of the system weakened by grip to enable it to resist and throw off these sequent diseases which so frequently prove fatal.

In actual test Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved itself peculiarly valuable not only in the quick cure of the disease but also in rebuilding the body which grip has undermined and in curing diseases which are prone to fasten on the enfeebled system. It strengthens the stomach, heals the lungs, and purifies the blood. It puts the whole body on a plane of sound and vigorous health.

A VICTIM OF GRIP.

"Two years ago this month I had an attack of grip which left my throat and lungs in bad condition," writes Mrs. M. E. Stewart, of Center, Chickasaw Nation, Ind. Ter. The doctor said I had disease of the bronchial tubes, but confessed to my husband (unknown to me), that I had consumption in the first stage and could never be cured ; but, thanks to God and to Dr. Pierce, to-day I feel well, and am better now than I have been for many years. I can do as much work now as any woman of my age, which is forty-seven. One of my neighbor women advised me to get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, so I sent and got it, and then I was not satisfied with it alone, hardly believing it would cure me, so I wrote to Dr. Pierce and gave him my symptoms. He replied that I had catarrh of the head, extending to my lungs, and told what would cure me. I took his advice —never neglected it for anything. I have taken seventeen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' eight vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, and ten packages of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. I do not regret that I spent the money paid for the medicines. I have gained twenty-four pounds. Indeed Dr. Pierce's medicines have done wonders for me. It is no use for me to try to tell my feelings. It would take time and space, but I was a skeleton and so poor and so down-hearted I could not look at one of my little ones without shedding tears, thinking that they would soon be left without a mother."

HOW STRENGTH IS RESTORED.

What makes me strong? Ask yourself that question and you will find that the answer will be, I am made strong by food.

How does food make us strong? By passing through the processes of digestion and being converted into nutrition, which, in the form of blood, nourishes the body. So that while blood is the life of the body, food is the life of the blood.

Every red vein and artery of the body leads like a scarlet clue back to the stomach. If the body is weak, therefore, we must look to the stomach first for the cause of weakness, and then to the blood. The same result of physical weakness will follow the opening of an artery, or starvation. You may bleed to death or starve to death. This is so well understood in medical practice that the first consideration of the physician in investigating disease is the condition of the stomach. If the stomach is weak the body can't be strong. If the stomach is weak, that weakness will surely find an echo in some other organ dependent on the stomach for its nutrition—such as heart, liver, lungs, kidneys, etc. If you starve a mother, you starve the child at her breast. If you starve the stomach, you starve the organs it feeds. But starvation of the body can be accomplished even where food is plentifully supplied, because if the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, then the food will not be converted into nutrition or only partly so, and the body inadequately nourished will begin to grow weak. The first attempt, then, in dealing with a weak body is to nourish it into strength. The general method of this attempt is to try and bring the food down to the level of the weak stomach. This is done by the use of prepared foods, cod liver oil, and its emulsions. But this doesn't cure the disease of the stomach or put the organs of nutrition into a condition to build up the body.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery deals directly with the stomach and blood. It seeks to bring the stomach up to the level of strong, healthful food. when this is done the body gains in strength, puts on flesh, throws off disease, and enters on a new life. That these results follow the use of 'Golden Medical Discovery' is proved by the testimony of thousands of weak, rundown, men and women and by their cure, by the use of 'Discovery,' of diseases of lungs, heart, kidneys, liver, etc., which originated in the disease of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition.

"Three years ago I had the grip," writes Mrs. Tillie Linney, of Gravel Switch, Marion Co., Ky. "It settled on my lungs, and the doctor said I had consumption. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and am thankful to say I am entirely well."

ELECTRICAL STORM.

The Most Terrorizing Ever Experienced Here

The rain which commenced to fall in this valley last Tuesday developed into one of the most terrorizing electrical storms Friday morning ever known here.

At about 9:30 o'clock, while the rain was coming down in torrents there was a sudden flash of lightning which went ziz-zagging all around the town. This was instantly following by a discharge of heavenly artillery that was really appalling, many nervous people taking it for the crack of doom. Nothing like it had ever been experienced here before and many people got a scare that they will not soon forget.

The streak of lightning charged the atmosphere with electricity and in numerous cases people received shocks similar to that transmitted through the system by an electric battery. The atmospheric discharge was in every respect similar to the discharge of large cannon right over one's head.

Fortunately the electrical disturbance only lasted a few seconds, else there might have been a different tale to tell.

The Rain and Grapes.

The rain which fell in this valley Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday has been anything but welcome to our vineyardists and wine makers. About one half the grape crop still remains unpicked and it is feared the owners of vineyards will suffer a heavy loss by the storm. They had contracted to deliver the grapes to the wineries at from $27 50 to $32.50 per ton and thousands of tons still remain upon the vines.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.

How J. W. Cook Got Hurt in San Francisco.

J. W. Cook, who resides on his farm in the eastern suburbs of town, met with one of the most singular accidents that we have ever recorded. It occurred in San Francisco last Sunday morning. He had boarded an over-crowded electric car bound for the Cliff House and was compelled to hang on to the hand rail with one hand while his feet rested on the lower step. This forced position naturally threw his head and shoulders far out beyond the side of the car. While in this position an electric car going in an opposite direction rushed by. This car, too, was overcrowed, and was carrying a passenger who occupied a similar position on the lower step on that car to Mr. Cook's on the other.

As the electric cars passed each other Mr. Cook's head came in violent contact with that of the other passenger and both were knocked senseless into the street. Both men were picked up and hurried to an emergency hospital were their hurts were attended to.

In a few hours Mr. Cook had so far recovered from the shock as to be able to take the five o'clock boat for home, since which time he has been confined to his bed. He is being treated by Dr. Rich for concussion of the brain.

The other victim of the singular accident is said to be lying in a very precarious condition at his home in San Francisco, wither he was taken from the hospital. He is an entire stranger to Mr. Cook.

The Catholic Fair

The Catholic Fair closed Monday night after a successful run of five days. The net profits of the ladies of St. Francis' church who conducted the Fair, will exceed $1500. This money will be devoted to paying off a portion of the indebtedness of the church and repainting and otherwise improving the edifice. Some of the lucky ones who won prizes were: Blair Hart, handsome toilet set of ten pieces; Miss E. Kearney, fine buggy robe; Jos. Guailfoyle, milch cow; Miss Chase, large dressed doll; Ranald McDonnell, silk cushion; Mrs. L. H. Green, tea set; L H Green, $5 00 order on Gaige & Lewis' meat market; Pauline McMullin, cushion; Mrs. Geo. Gies, beautiful leather cushion; O. W. Gericke, arm chair; Mrs. M. Muldry, cut glass pitcher. It is not yet known who holds the winning numbers for the twenty-dollar gold piece and ladies' gold watch.

Robt. Hall Reported to be Out of Danger

Robt. Hall, the well-known orchardist of this valley, has been dangerously ill all the week with pneumonia. The latest news from his bedside says that he was much better. He is under the care of Drs. Hennessey and Thomson. Mr. Hall has many friends in this valley who will rejoice to hear that there has been a change for the bette in his condition.

Diphtheria.

Miss Hazel Gies, the beautiful sixteen-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gies, is down with diphtheria. The symptoms made their appearance Sunday. The residence has been quarintined by Dr. Thomson, and no one is allowed to enter the house, even the father of the afflicted young lady, in order to prevent the spread of this most contagious of diseases. Mrs. Gies, with a mother's devotion, is in constant attendance upon her sick child.

The price of admission will be only 25c and dance as long as you like. *

TIRED OF HIS BARGAIN

L. Maronchi Sues Florenzo Nichelini.

An interesting suit has been filed in the Superior Court of this county by Leopold Maronchi, through his attorneys, R. A. Poppe and W. F. Cowen.

The suit was brought by Maronchi to recover from Florenzo Nichelini a certificate of depost for $500 on the Sonoma Valley Bank and a note for $1200. The suit is the outcome of a written agreement entered into by the parties to the suit several years ago and the filing for record of a will made by plaintiff in favor of defendant and defendant's mother.

At that time Maronchi, who was sick and needed care and attention and the other comforts of a home, assigned to Nichelini his will, the certificate of deposit and note in question for safe-keeping as long as he lived. The note was willed to Mrs. Nichelini and was to go to her after the death of Maronchi. In return he was to be housed, fed, nursed and cared for during his life time.

Maronchi did not die, however, and after making his home with the Nichelini's for four or five years he repented of his bargain and now seeks to have it annulled and to handle his own money, which has been kept intact by Nichelini all those years.

J. O. Horne Heard From.

J. O. Horne, who cut a wide swarth in this valley for several months in 1890, has again been heard from. The Santa Rosa Republican of Tuesday says: "Joseph O. Horne, who flourished in Santa Rosa for some time a year or two ago, is again in evidence. While here he lived high and bought many things that were never paid for. Before coming to Santa Rosa he had considerable sport at Sonoma for which other people paid. He had a monthly remittance of several hundred dollars from the east and this tended to give him credit, but he was better at contracting bills than he was in paying them. From here this high roller and his wife went to Oakland and secured a good allotment of suckers. They then passed on to Santa Cruz and now it is reported they are doing Los Angeles. Oakland people have just sued them for $1207.15. borrowed money, boarding expenses, liquors, cigars, etc. The Hornes do not intend to let the world get the better of them."

A Rising Young Man.

The many friends of Alex. Martin in this place will be pleased to learn that he is paving the way to success in the hustling business world of the metropolis. Ten or twelve years ago young Martin, who was born and raised in Sonoma, went to San Francisco and accepted an humble position with J. A Folger & Co., the big wholesale and importing coffee and spice firm. By his industrious habits he has gradually worked his way up from one position to another until to-day he is the foreman over a small army of employees and is receiving a fine salary. Mr. Martin still has a hankering after old Sonoma and only the other day we ran across him shooting ducks in the marshes south of town.

Important to Tax-Payers.

Tax Collector Grace gives notice in these columns that an indexed list of the names of the tax-payers of Sonoma and Glen Ellen Townships with the amount of taxes due from each, has been prepared by him and left at the Sonoma Valley Bank. This book is accessible to all taxpayers during banking hours and will enable them to pay up by check without going to Santa Rosa.

After being treated by an eminent physician for quite a while without relief my wife recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after using two bottles of it he is almost entirely cured.—Geo. R. McDonald, Man, Logan county, W. Va. Several other very remarkable cures of partial paralysis have been effected by use of this liniment. It is most widely known, however, as a cure for rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by F. Duhring. *

The evening was pleasantly spent in social converse and the partaking of delicious refreshments. At a late hour the party returned to Kenwood by the light of the moon.

SHERIFF GRACE.

Did He Capture "Balloon Man?"

Sheriff Frank P. Grace, as every one knows, has made one of the best Sheriffs Sonoma county has ever had, and during his one term of office has became noted all over the State for his clever apprehension of criminals of high and low degree. One of his noted captures was that of Bud Wallace, alias "Balloon Man." Any attempt to belittle a good and honest official, such as Sheriff Grace has proven himself to be, should be discountenanced by every fair-minded newspaper man in Sonoma county. That is why we publish the following from the Press Democrat of last Tuesday:

"In its account of the arrest of Bud Wallace, alias Charles Vosner, the Press Democrat stated that the alleged bunko man was apprehended at the instance of Sheriff Frank P. Grace. To this statement the Republican, having previously published an incorrect account, took violent exception. In view of the circumstances noted, the following received at the Sheriff's office on Monday, becomes of interest:

"Hall of Justice, City and County of San Francisco—Office of the Chief of Police, Oct. 20, 1902.

"The arrest in the case of Chas. Vossner, alias Bud Wallace, alias Balloon Man, was made by me on the night of October 15, 1902, on information received and at the request of and under the direction of Sheriff F. P. Grace of Sonoma county, Cal., and detained by me until delivered to his deputy.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Scrofula—as ugly as ever since time immemorial.

It causes bunches in the neck, disfigures the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A bunch appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." MRS. K. T. SNYDER, Troy, Ohio.

RHEUMATISM.

The Despair and Reproach of the Medical Profession.

It was by rheumatic twinges in his joints that Adam was able to forecast foul weather, and it was rheumatism which tortured Noah during the damp days of the deluge. Old as this malady is known to be, it still remains the same stupendous and baffling mystery and the same despair and reproach of the medical profession. Now, as before the Christian era, its treatment is empirical and its prognosis blind guesswork. Of all the manifold afflictions which restrain the natural gayety of mankind this elusive disease is the least about which the doctors have any right to dogmatize. Their proper attitude toward rheumatism is one of humility and awe. However, with arrogance which approaches shameless effrontery, they have recently affirmed that it is contagious; that a person of the most blameless life may acquire its seeds by consorting with a rheumatic friend or neighbor under favoring circumstances. It may be so; but, considering their appalling ignorance of its causes and its nature and what tissues it involves, they can show no warrant for any such alarming announcement.

Surely it is enough that the rheumatic sufferer is without the hope of human aid, is the victim of the physician's impotence and is already shunned by the sensitive as a center of moral pestilence without his being proscribed as a source of physical infection. Pugnacity, irritability and sometimes even profanity are characteristic of acute rheumatism. The moral descent of a good man in the throes of this ailment is as pathetic as it is deplorable, so piteous, indeed, that considerate friends who are expert at dodging often leave harmless missiles within his reach that he may vary the monotony of pain with the pleasure of personal assault. To proclaim that rheumatism is contagious is to drive from the presence of the victim all sympathetic friends and condemn him to the exclusive care of the hardened professional nurse.—New York Times.

Recipe For Happiness.

One of the youngest looking women we have ever known was one whose principle in life was never to expect too much of people, and in this lies the great secret of happiness. A large amount of worry and trouble comes from our too great expectations of people. We expect too much of our children, for example. They must be gifted, beautiful, obedient little compendiums of all the virtues, and if they are not all this we think bitter things and sow wrinkles and gray hair and ill health for ourselves, says Woman's Life. What right have we to expect so much of our own children? Blessed is the parent who looks tolerantly and philosophically on the faults of his children and who realizes that he has no right to expect too much of children as long as the law of heredity holds good. Unless we ourselves are gifted, beautiful and obedient to the will of somebody else we have no right to expect such perfections of our children.

Treatment For Burns.

For a dry burn there is nothing better than equal parts of linseed oil and limewater. This makes the carron oil, which the Welsh miners use in case of burns. It should have a place in every closet where household remedies are kept. In applying it shake the bottle, saturate a soft cloth with the mixture and lay over the burn. Then cover closely with cotton batting or flannel to keep out every bit of air and secure the whole with a light bandage. Burns may also be treated by covering with a thick layer or any bland oil like vaselin, sweet oil, linseed oil, castor oil, butter, lard, cocoanut oil, cocoa butter, cold cream or almost any fat that is not rancid. Glycerin should not be used. It is too irritating. Soft powders like flour, laundry or cornstarch may also be dusted on thickly, then bound on.

They All Looked.

Dear little Molly was wearing new boots, and no one had admired them, at which she was terribly disappointed. At last a brilliant idea struck her, and when there was a pause in the conversation she exclaimed:

"How many feet are there among us all?"

This had the desired effect, much to her delight.—Home Chat.

Beards In Alaska.

Mustaches are not worn by men exposed to the severity of an Alaskan winter. They wear full beards to protect the throat and face, but keep the upper lip clean shaven. The moisture from the breath congeals so quickly that a mustache becomes imbedded in a solid cake of ice, and the face is frozen in a short time

A Typical South African Store

O. R. Larson of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record. For sale by F. Duhring. *

ORIGIN OF THE ROSARY.

An Interesting Legend Associates It With a Garland of Roses.

Tracing the origin of the rosary back to times and places far remote, Father Thurston, who read a paper before the Society of Arts, pointed out that it would be a great mistake to suppose that the use of beads for counting prayers was peculiar to the Catholic church or was of comparatively modern date. To determine at what time the name rosary (rosenkranz) was introduced is extremely difficult. Garlands of roses, implying a reference to the term rosary, were a conspicuous feature of pictures and tablets of the fifteenth century, but before this no clear examples are forthcoming. At that epoch it was common for both men and women in ordinary life to wear garlands of flowers and to place them as a mark of respect upon the heads of persons and statues. Father Thurston is strongly inclined to believe that its application to the particular devotion now under discussion was mainly due to the popularity of a certain story of a garland which can be traced very much earlier than the word itself in almost every part of the Christian world. The name must have come from the story, and the story was not evolved out of an already pre-existing name.

The legend in question is briefly this: A youth was accustomed to make a wreath of roses or other flowers every day and to place it upon the head of Our Lady's statue. He became a monk, and in the cloister his occupations no longer permitted him to observe this pious practice. Being much distressed, he asked counsel of an aged priest, who advised him to say his Aves every evening, which would be accepted by Our Lady in lieu of the garland. This the young man faithfully observed until one day while on a journey he had to pass through a lonely wood, where robbers were lying in wait. Quite unsuspicious of their presence, he suddenly remembered that his Aves were not yet said and forthwith stopped to say them. Then, to their surprise, the robbers saw a most glorious lady stand before him and take one after another from the lips of the kneeling monk fifty beautiful roses, which she wove into a garland and placed upon her head. The robbers, conscience stricken at the vision, were all converted to a better life, and themselves soon after entered the monastery.—London Telegraph.

Dodging a Promise.

The youthful attorney secured a verdict in favor of the Irishman charged with murder on the ground of temporary insanity. He did not meet his client again for several months, when the following remarks were exchanged between them:

"Well, Pat, isn't it about time you gave me that extra $200?"

"Faith, an' what two hoondred is thot?"

"The $200 you promised if I saved that worthles neck of yours."

"Sure, an' did Oi promise thot? Oi don't ramimber."

"Why, Pat, you promised it me."

Pat scratched his head for a minute and then with a smile outlawed the claim with the remark:

"Oh, well, but ye know Oi was crazy thin."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

One Way to Make Change.

A struggling, modest lawyer near Stroudsburg, says the Philadelphia Times, received a call from a well to do farmer who was in need of professional advice concerning his rights, which he thought ignored by a section gang on a railroad. The lawyer looked up the statutes, told the farmer exactly what he should do and when asked as to the fee replied, "Well, let's call it just $3." The farmer passed over a five dollar bill, which seemed to embarrass the lawyer, who searched through his pockets and the drawers of his desk. Then he pocketed the $5, reached for a digest, sat down and remarked, "I guess, neighbor, I'd best give you $2 worth more advice."

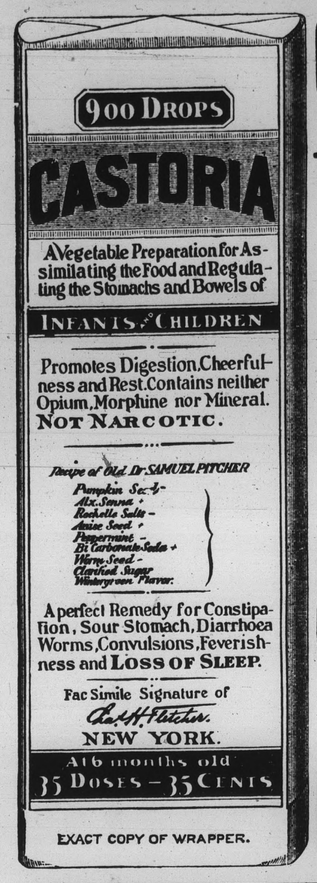

A Considerate Host.

Lord Rosebery one time sat next to a farmer at his estate dinner, and the confiding man whispered to the host when the ice pudding was brought, "The pudding has been frozen." The ex-premier, thanking the farmer and looking surprised, called to a waiter, said something and then, turning to the farmer again, said, "They tell me the pudding has been frozen on purpose!"

Ostrich Plumes.

Black and white ostrich plumes come from the male bird, the gray from the female. The feathers are not plucked out, as one might imagine, but are clipped off with a sharp knife, leaving the end of the quill in the flesh, where it remains for two or three months, until it "dies," when it is pulled out with forceps.
